POPE IN COLLAPSE; CARRIED TO CHAMBER

EXHAUSTED BY RECEPTION TO THE ENGLISH PILGRIMS TO-DAY.

ROME, Oct. 25.—Thoroughly exhausted as the result of holding several interviews, the Pope Pius was forced to take to his bed. The Pontiff was so greatly exhausted that he had to be practically carried to his room.

His collapse came directly after he had received a number of English pilgrims against the advice of his physicians. Dr. Lapponi, his personal physician, declares that the indisposition of the Pope is only temporary and believes he will have recovered by to-morrow.

NEAR ARREST FOR SPITTING IN SPRING LANE

Eric Johnson, a Dorchester young man, came near being the first person to be accused under the new police regulations to prohibit spitting on the sidewalk. His case got as far as a summons, which was held up soon after it was issued.

Patrolman Hildreth of the Court square station took Johnson's name in Spring lane and went forthwith to Judge Parmenter of the Municipal Court to ask for a warrant. It was issued by the justice, who concluded, however, to ask:

"I think it is a sidewalk, your Honor," Patrolman Hildreth answered.

Judge Parmenter told the officer he would hold up the summons while Hildreth went in search of evidence to prove that Spring Lane was a sidewalk and not a street. In the meantime the warrant for Johnson is held up.

The Street Commissioners hold that Spring Lane is a public highway and not a sidewalk. In all probability, therefore, the warrant cannot be issued.

WARSHIPS FILL NAVY YARD.

Every court is every berthing place at the Charlestown Navy Yard is filled to-day with a warship of some type. It is a new record for the yard.

SEE BLOW AT HEARST IN N. Y. POLICE SHIFT

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—As a result of an order issued by Commissioner Bingham every police captain in New York, with one exception, was to-day transferred, the change to take effect at 6 o'clock this evening.

Back of the change, which is one of the most sweeping in New York police annals, Tammany men claim to see a thrust at William R. Hearst by the McClellan administration.

The shift of the captains will be followed by the shifting of thousands of roundsmen and patrolmen. It is said that the force is strongly pro-Hearst and that, as a result of the change said to have been made for the betterment of the service, Hearst will lose thousands of police votes. The only captain not transferred was Schuettman, left in charge of the Tenderloin station.

WON'T BOTHER ABOUT $101,000 GEM THEFT

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Mary Chatres, a maid of Mrs. John H. Clews, who was arrested on suspicion in connection with the robbery of $101,000 worth of jewelry, the property of her mistress, was discharged yesterday. Mr Clews's attorney said Mr. Clews "did not want to be further bothered about the case."

Van Etten's Slur on Car Workers Resented; STRIKERS ARE FIRM

Allston Employes of Boston & Albany to Insist on Demands.

Assurances of Support Given by Men at Other Points of System.

At an enthusiastic meeting of the striking car workers of the Boston & Albany Railroad, held in Harvard Hall, Allston, today, it was unanimously decided to stand firm in their position. An announcement made by John Fersen, financial secretary of the Carlorkers' Union, that he expected to hear at any time that the unions all over he road had responded to the request of International President P. E. Richard for a general strike, was received with cheers.

Angry at Van Etten Statement.

Much indignation was apparent regarding the statement of Van Etten, the Boston representative of the New York Central, which controls the Boston & Albany, that the strikers are old men. It was stated that Recording Secretary Frank Barlow and Financial Secretary John Fersen drew up the following statement to be printed in the BOSTON AMERICAN.

"The statement made by Van Etten, that all the men employed at the Allston car shops are old and crippled, and that the shop was kept open for sweet charity's sake, is both false and absurd. The oldest man among the car workers is only sixty, and he is active for his years and a valuable workman. Most of the car workers are under forty. The Allston car shops are no old man's asylum, and we want to ask whoever heard of the Boston & Albany road ever doing anything for charity."

Men Will Stick Together.

Financial Secretary Fersen said, regarding the present situation:

"The men are firm and will stick together, even if it takes a year to win this strike. The unions all along the line have been notified, and we are awaiting their action. Inside of twenty-four hours it is probable that there will be a general tie-up all over the system."

NEW HAVEN ROAD'S MEN INDORSE THE B. & A. STRIKE

Nearly every member was present at the meeting of the Bay State Lodge of Railway Carmen in Jefferson Hall, Albany and Dover street, last night, when it was unanimously voted to indorse the action of the Boston & Albany Railroad car workers, who are on strike at Allston shops. The Bay State Lodge men work for the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad.

The lodge voted to insist on the establishment of the piece system on the N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R. and pledged itself to use its power to have the Allston car workers receive the increase of 15 per cent. in wages. The Roadville members present stated that they are determined to resist the bonus piece work.

SAYS HE WAS HELD UP AND ROBBED

Declaring that he had been beaten and robbed of $850 by four burly negroes in Western avenue, Cambridge, Joseph Mattia of No. 72 Moody street, Waltham, was found wandering in that street early today by Patrolman Griffiths. Mattia said the assault happened last night at about 10:30, and that he had not remembered where he had been nor what he had done until the policeman found him.

MISS WILLS SECURES APPLETON BEQUEST

COURT ALLOWS TRAVELER'S WILL TO STAND; $5,000 FOR FIANCEE.

Judge McKim in the Probate Court today allowed the will of Captain Nathan Appleton, the traveler and author who died about two months ago in the Hotel Nottingham in this city. Mrs. Appleton, widow of the deceased, waived her rights and allowed the property, which is worth about $5,000, to go to Miss Edith Russell Wills, the young society woman of Newburyport, to whom the captain had become engaged after his wife had secured a divorce decree last July.

Captain Appleton, who once years ago was reputed to have been a millionaire, died within six months after the granting of the decree in divorce proceedings, and under the law, his former wife was still recognized by law as his wife. Mrs. Appleton, however, soon let attorneys here to waive all claims on what was left of the captain's fortune and the bequest to Miss Wills is allowed to stand.

MORE PROOFS OF GAS TRUST BRIBE OFFER

Accompanied by affidavits to back his up, Leon Smith of Everett, president of the City Council and Independence League candidate for the Senate from the Twenty-Fourth Middlesex District, repeats his assertion, which was published in the BOSTON SUNDAY AMERICAN to the effect that the New England Gas and Coke Company offered to pay his campaign expenses if he would be their candidate.

President Richards of the company denied that the company tried to purchase Mr. Smith in this manner. In his letter Mr. Smith says:

"I was not surprised at the denial made by the president of the New England Gas and Coke Company, and desire to simply state I have not yet exhausted all my evidence. The accompanying affidavits, from disinterested parties, testify to the truth of my statement of last Sunday.

"The New England Gas and Coke Company, through Elmer E. Evans, who is now and then, was an employe of the company, and who claimed to be their authorized agent, tried to buy me, but failed to do so. I have other witnesses to testify to the truth of this statement.

The affidavits accompanying the letter were made by Annie I. McKeen and John Wragg of Boston. Both declare that they were in the office of Mr. Swift when Elmer Evans introduced James Chambers to Mr. Swift as the company's candidate to the House, and said that if Swift would go into the fight with Chambers the company would spend $2,000 to elect him over Mr. Sweeney. They swear that they heard Mr. Evans say that he was authorized to act for the company.

$5 A WEEK FOR MOTHER AND 4 CHILDREN

James Gilhooli, twenty-nine years old, charged by his wife, Jennette, twenty-six, of No. 61 Pleasant street, with non-support, was placed on probation today in the Municipal Court by Judge Parmenter. Mrs. Gilhooli, who has been paying the rent and keeping herself and four children on $5 a week, left her place of work to appear against their father. He had been arrested on his wife's complaint.

Gilhooli's defense was that he has been out of work.

"Well, Gilhooli," said the court, placing him on probation, "I hope you'll get work, and I hope that hereafter you will do the right thing by this brave little woman here."

The four children are five, four, two and one year old. The mother has had them in a day nursery at the South End during the two months that she has been the sole breadwinner.

DEALER SUMMONED BY EXCISE BOARD

John Fleming, a liquor dealer at No. 183 Norfolk street, Roxbury, has been summoned to appear before the excise board to answer to a charge of permitting an intoxicated person to loiter about his premises.

The charge was preferred by Captain Curran of the Dudley street police station.

SPORTING BARON A SUICIDE

ANTWERP, Oct. 25.—Baron Ony, a sportsman well known in France and England, committed suicide yesterday by shooting himself.

Old Chamber of Commerce Burned in Early Morning and 200 People Were in Peril. Heroic Rescues at Big Blaze That Destroyed Two Apartment Houses.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 25.—Women and children were thrown from the fourth floor of the old Chamber of Commerce building, Kansas City, Kan., early to day, during a fire that destroyed that structure and an apartment house adjoining, because the ladders of the firemen were too short to reach higher than the third story.

The imperilled people were dropped to firemen on the ladders. Some of them were caught. Others hurtled their way through the flame and smoke to their death in the street below.

It is feared that at least twenty-five persons lost their lives in the conflagration. Fifty of the 300 tenants of the structure were badly hurt.

John Lynch of the top floor seized the baby of John Sparks and jumped with it, hoping that the firemen would catch him. Both fell in the burning debris. They were killed.

Only one body has been recovered so far. Many are missing and it is believed that they were victims of the catastrophe.

TENANTS IN ROARING FURNACE

The flames spread so rapidly that before the firemen could reach the scene the building was a roaring furnace, while the threatened inmates of the fire trap fought for possession of the inadequate fire escapes. Two hours after the first alarm, the building was a smoking pile fed by an exploded gas pipe that supplied the building.

People living in the upper stories were awakened to find themselves surrounded by a wall of flames. The hallways, their only hope of escape, were roaring furnaces, while the two fire escapes with which the building was provided were cut off except to a few.

By the time the majority of the persons on the third and fourth floors had awakened the north fire escape was cut off, while the one on the west side was so jammed in that it was dangerous for all to attempt to reach it. Many, however, jumped the flames and emerged from the burning building badly burned. Others were caught between the sheets of flame and have not been seen since, and their charred bodies are now believed to be in the smoking ruins.

Those who succeeded in getting to windows after their escape had been cut off were forced to jump to the ground, three or four stories below, or perish in the flames. Of those who jumped, all suffered injured of a more or less serious nature.

The fate of Mrs. M. E. Brigman and her two children is unknown. They were seen in one of the burning hallways soon after the alarm, but it is believed that they were suffocated before they could reach the fire escape.

Mother and Babes Missing.

Mrs. Edward Winslow and her two infant daughters are among the missing. Like many of the unfortunates dying on the upper floors they are believed to have perished before they could reach places of safety.

Of the injured at the hospitals, three are in a critical condition.

They are Mrs. C. E. Sparks, whose infant died in the fire, believed to have sustained injuries that will result in her death; O. E. Everhardt, inhaled flames, and his chances of recovery are slight; Robert Burton, a railroad engineer, sustained mental injuries. The remainder of the injured at the hospitals at noon were reported to be recovering.

When the firemen arrived the entire building was a blazing mass. Ladders were raised, but did not reach above the third floor. Many persons who dared to venture back to their doors were carried out. Some, crazed with fear, jumped from the top floor or the roof. Firemen pushed their way through the burning building and brought out several who had fainted unconscious in the smoke-filled halls or had been overcome before getting out of their apartments.

Heroic rescues occurred in several cases. On the fourth floor Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Wilson, with their infant child, were cut off from escape. Mrs. Wilson jumped to ward the firemen on the ladder below. The first man broke her fall and other were able to seize her. She was taken down in safety. Wilson, carrying the baby in his arms, followed her in the mad leap for life, too, and was saved.

MORAN WILL SPEAK TO-NIGHT AT FALL RIVER

District Attorney John B. Moran speaks to-night at Fall River, and will leave for that city at 5:30 p. m.

The mill operatives of the city are going to give him a great reception, and it is expected that more than one meeting will be necessary, as there is great excitement over the anticipated visit.

The candidate was much pleased with the reception at Lynn last night, and his health is in better condition than any time since the campaign opened. Dr. Stewart, who is accompanying the candidate, said there was a great improvement in the candidate's physical condition, so much so that he will be able to stand the strain of engagements. To-morrow night he intends to take a rest and will speak at Tremont Temple Saturday night under the auspices of the Independence League.

Plan New Attack on Moran.

The Republicans are lurking about looking for a chance to attack Moran on other matters than his political record, but great care is being exercised as to how they shall go about it.

The party leaders are afraid of the rebound which might come from such a line of attack, and already much severe criticism is heard on Governor Guild's American House speech, so much so that he has to cut it out and stick to his text "Me or the Other Fellow."

The Boston Bar Association members are not at all pleased at their association being dragged into the campaign by Arthur D. Hill, an officer of the organization, and many members are criticising the action. They argue that the Bar Association is not a political organization, but a body of men to whom upon the honesty and ability of a lawyer, whether he does his duty by his clients. Another duty of the association is to see that petitioners and "log-rollers" do not practice law.

Record Good as a Lawyer.

As a lawyer, District Attorney Moran's record, it is argued by his friends in the association, is one of honesty in dealing with his clients and the public, and there is an uprising against the attempt to make the association an annex to the Republican State committee.

On the contrary, those members of the association who repel the idea of dabbling in politics say the association would have been more justified in criticising Governor Guild's appointments to the bench, totaling five, of Judge Dunn, who never tried a case, the failure to appoint a man of Judicial experience to the Superior bench. As Governor Guild is not a lawyer much surprise is expressed by attorneys why the association officials should use the name of the organization for political purposes.

$100,000 IN THE STEERAGE

The richest aggregation of immigrants that ever arrived in this country came on the Cunard liner Ivernia, which reached her dock in East Boston late last night. The capital of the 1,500 passengers represented more than $100,000. Jan Jaffer and Ivan Stroski from Russia were the richest, with $1,500 and $1,000, respectively. Over two hundred had between $200 and $500 each, while 225 others had a total of $25,000 among them.

The immigrants were all of an unusually intelligent class, and in five hours the inspectors had disposed of them. As a rule a day and a half is consumed in the inspection of this number of the ordinary steerage passengers.

"ENTHUSIASM FOR MORAN IS WONDERFUL"

—G. F. WILLIAMS

George Fred Williams, who has been speaking nightly with District Attorney Moran, says he never saw such enthusiasm in recent years.

"The people are far from being curious. They want facts and they are getting them as never before," he says. "The Lynn meeting was the most remarkable demonstration I have seen. With the crowd inside and about the hall there were 12,000 people or more to greet the candidate—and such an ovation. It was tremendous."

"Did you know that Attorney General Dana Malone made a reply to you?"

"Yes, and if he had not come off his high horse I would have told him more about the merger case. I know what I was talking about when I asked the attorney general who he didn't act. He made the best explanation possible. Ex-Attorney General Parker, I see, is getting into the argument, but he had better tell why he didn't do his duty in the matter."

"What do you think of the list of so-called Democrats headed by President Eliot and others?"

"When did they ever do anything else? I never heard of them voting a regular ticket of any kind, and certainly not in the past ten years.

"I see the name of Frederick P. Fish among the list. Now that sounds good enough Governor Guild. He is the president of the Bell Telephone Company, and do you find that company or any other corporation supporting Moran for Governor? Not much."

MORAN AND GUILD RIDE HOME TOGETHER IN CAB

"HELLO, GOVERNOR."—"HELLO, JOHN."—AND GEORGE FRED RODE WITH THEM, TOO.

Governor Guild, the Republican candidate for re-election, District Attorney John B. Moran, Democratic independent Legion candidate for Governor, and George Fred Williams left the North Station together last night in the one carriage which could be found at the station big enough to carry them to their homes.

Mr. Moran boarded the 11.58 p. m. train for Boston at Malden and Mr. Williams, wearing a high silk hat and a frock coat, was Governor Guild. Mr. Moran wore a brown overcoat with the collar turned up, concealing most effectively the average workingman tinge a candidate for gubernatorial honors is said to be wearing that he other was about the train.

The newspaper men discovered the incident and went into the car with Governor Guild. Who is after greeting them asked if there had been a rally. He was told that Lynn went crazy over Moran.

Opponents Shake Hands.

Arriving in Boston, Governor Guild hurried to engage a carriage. A BOSTON AMERICAN reporter informed Mr. Moran of Governor Guild's presence on the train. Mr. Moran said: "I am sorry I did not know it before."

Outside the station Mr. Moran met Governor Guild. Going over to him with his hand outstretched, Mr. Moran shook the hand of the Governor and said:

"Hello, Governor."

Governor Guild grasped the extended hand and answered: "Hello, John."

Governor Guild, continuing, said: "The last time you two had a big rally to-night, John."

"Yes, I did have a good meeting," answered Moran. "We are gallery people. We get what you don't get and you get what we don't get."

Governor Guild seemed pleased at the remark.

Changing the subject, Governor Guild said: "How is the cold, John?"

"Much better, thank you" answered Mr. Moran.

"You Are Sick. I Am Not."

Nothing George Fred Williams at this point. Governor Guild shook hands with Mr. Moran, turned and greeted Jerry Watson, with a familiar "Hello, Jerry." Mr. Stewart was then introduced to the Governor.

Mr. Moran here turned his attention to his own opposition. Only one conveyance was in sight, and Governor Guild said: "You had better take this carriage. You are a sick man. I am not."

However, compromised matters by saying that he would ride with the Governor as far as the Quincy House. George Fred Williams was also asked to ride with the political leaders, and at 12.05, o'clock this morning the party drove off up Friend street. The cabmen were aware that his passengers were men who did not like each other both and hail from the public platform.

HUNT BOY OF 12 WHO STOLE 40-TON ROLLER

Every patrolman attached to Station 5, in East Dedham street at the South End, is on the hunt for Daniel O'Handley, who lives at No. 70 East Dedham street, within the shadow of the police station, a 12-year-old freebooter who helped to steal a 40-ton road roller last night. O'Handley's first mate, Joseph Cocosky of No. 907 Harrison avenue, also 12 years old, is now basking his eyes out in a dungeon cell. He has confessed all.

The steam roller, which has been engaged in the work of making a new bed for East Dedham street, had been tucked in for the night, with its fires banked and with forty gallons of steam on to keep the metal from losing its temper. The only thing lacking was a slight spark and the watchman, Martin Hogarty, who was arranging danger lanterns at the extreme easterly end of the street.

Hogarty, attracted by the cries of urchins and the clang clang of the roller, climbed aboard and shut off the steam just as the iron giant was climbing the curbing and making ready for the front of a dwelling house. O'Handley and Cocosky disappeared.

Today an employe of Green Bros. at No. 31 Southampton street reported the disappearance of a democrat wagon from liver street. The grocer man went strolling on his own account and found the missing team, with O'Handley holding the reins and Cocosky sitting beside him with fold ed arms. O'Handley jumped on the wagon and made good his escape. Cocosky began to cry, and the grocer man pinched him.

"What did you take this democrat wagon for?" sergeant Driscoll wanted to know.

"Well," said Joe, "they ain't a Republican waggin in th' South End, is they?" That was before he broke down.

HYDE PARK MAN HELD ON CHARGE OF $1000 THEFT

A dispatch to the BOSTON AMERICAN from New York to-day states that Louis G. Ripley, aged twenty-five years, was arrested there on a charge of stealing $1,000 in bonds and cash, and is now being held for the Boston authorities. According to the police of Hyde Park, where Ripley's family lives and where his father holds a responsible position in a tool manufacturing works, the young man had charge of a small branch store in Hyde Park, the property of Nathan Sallinger, clothier, of No. 433 Washington street, Boston, until March, 1905, when the store was closed suddenly and the youthful manager disappeared.

A warrant was at once sworn out for the arrest of Louis G. Ripley, but officers of the Hyde Park police to locate him have proved unavailing until this time. The Hyde Park police say that young Ripley spent his vacation unknown to them near Hyde Park this Summer, and that he visited his home several times, on one of these visits the police heard of the young man's plans and surrounded the house, but he managed to elude capture. Recently the Hyde Park police located the young man in New York, and the dispatches to-day tell of his arrest.

At the Sallinger store it was stated that Nathan Sallinger was in New York to-day.

CHIMNEY FALLS ON BOY, KILLING HIM

LAWRENCE, Oct. 25.—While swinging on a clothesline extended from the chimney to a post on the roof of his home in Newbog street, James J. Hannigan, six years old, was killed yesterday, the chimney falling upon him. A companion was knocked senseless by the falling brick.

LEAPS TO DEATH FROM BRIDGE OVER CHANNEL

Leaping into the water from the temporary bridge between Summer and Congress streets over Fort Point Channel on the South Boston side, a man supposed from papers found in his clothes to be James R. McLeod, residence unknown, committed suicide early to-day in the presence of Draywienders John Dunn, Joseph Mullen and John P. Scanlon, as well as several pedestrians who were hurrying to work at the time. Grappling hooks were secured after it was found that the body did not rise, and it was recovered some hours later and taken to Briggs's undertaking establishment.

In the coat and vest pockets of the suicide were found two handbooks of a kind used by the students of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, across the title page of each being written the name "James R. McLeod." There was a memorialist's rule with the name J. R. McLeod inscribed on it, and in another pocket was an intercolonial railroad luggage check, No. 25,072.

In another pocket was found a card with the name "Maisel P. Alsop, No. 5 Burgess street, Roxbury," on it. This name and address had been erased out with a pencil, and in the corner was written "No 3 Burgess street."

The description given by the police of the man is: Aged about twenty-five years, height, five feet eight inches; weight, 145 pounds; smooth face; sandy hair. He wore a light outing suit, standing collar and black tie. His coat and vest were picked up in the water by the Draywienders who rowed out to rescue the man after he jumped into the water. The coat was of a dark mixed fabric with a white thread running through it. A black derby hat bearing the mark on the lining "B. and C. Special," was found.

304 PER CENT. INCREASE IN CHILD LABOR

An increase of 304.59 per cent. in the number of children at work in the State during the last ten years is one of the startling revelations made by Chief Pidgin of the State Bureau of Labor Statistics in his thirteenth bulletin on the decennial census. The ages of the children considered in the report ranges from ten to fifteen years.

Suffolk County has the largest number of divorced persons, the figures for the whole State showing an increase of 72.28 per cent. in the number of divorces for the past ten years, being .02 per cent., and the Japanese, less than 1/100th of 1 per cent. Of the 34,021 colored persons, 16,711 are males and 17,307 females. Of the 2,115 Chinese, 2,083 males and 32 females, of the 94 Japanese, 79 males and 15 females, of the 510 persons of the Indian race, 262 males and 248 females.

There are 533,854 more single persons in the State than there are married. Of the 1,668,103 single persons, 836,761, or 50.16 per cent., are males, and 831,403, or 49.84 per cent., females. Thus there are 5,238 more unmarried males than unmarried females.

$25,000 GIFT TO FRANKLIN SQUARE HOUSE

That a gift of $25,000 has been made to the Franklin Square House was the much-cheered announcement made by the Rev. Dr. George L. Perin during an informal reception tendered the guests of that institution last night.

The name of the benefactor will be given out on the occasion of a public reception to be held in February, when some important announcements will be made in regard to the success of this enterprise, which the public is watching with interest.

The 450 guests, including transients, the past week, have represented almost every country on the globe. Referring to the fact that some residents of the house took exceptions to its being called "a working girls' home," Dr. Perin said: "Therein lies the glory of the place—the great disgrace is not to be a worker in a world like this. I have absolutely no respect for the man, or woman either, who does not work.

"I've worked and had responsibility all my life and I hope to until I die."

Mrs. Alice Gray Teele, superintendent of the house, was among others who made brief addresses during the evening.

'GIVE UP JEWISH WOMEN,' CRY OF MOOR REBELS

Special Cable to Boston American.

LONDON, Oct. 25.—Wild tribes of the mountain district near the town of Arzilla, a seaport of Morocco, have descended on the little town and are robbing and pillaging and burning the main districts.

The officials are powerless to act. The outrages continue unchecked and aid has been asked of the European powers. Warships have been dispatched to the scene. Europeans in the city have sent private messages urging their countries for intervention. The marauders demand the surrender of all Jewish women.

The latter are hiding in terror in their homes. Unless the demands of the mountaineers are complied with they threaten to raise hell in town. They have the officials completely at their mercy.

The latter are busily inciting the invaders to depart.

Outrages continue, however, and, according to dispatches received here, the only thing that can check the rebels is the appearance of foreign warships.

The rebels have captured the forts, and the terror-stricken inhabitants are at their mercy.

Arzilla is a fortified seaport in the province of Fez on the Atlantic, twenty-three miles south southwest of Cape Spartel.

WIFE FOR WHOM AGED HUSBAND DIED TELLS SAD LIFE STORY

Must Die Before Oct. 24, So She Could Get Insurance, He Said, and Died Oct. 20.

Was Always Loving, She Says, but Blindness Came and They Had to Separate.

SAMUEL A. MARSHALL of Billerica, who died Saturday at the age of seventy-one was buried Tuesday, without a suspicion on the part of his neighbors that he had died from any other than natural causes, is now said to have purchased cyanide of potassium a short time before his death, and the authorities are conducting an investigation.

Separated from his wife because, blind and deaf, he could not make a living for them, he is said to have stated to relatives in Lowell that he must die before October 24 or else, according to a contract he had signed two years before, his wife would not get a cent of the insurance on his life.

Mrs. Marshall has told to Rev. Albert A. George his pitiful story of the last days of their life together and of their parting.

"WE LOVED," SAYS AGED WIDOW, "BUT POVERTY PARTED US"

By Rev. A. E. GEORGE.

"HE fairly worshipped me. We always lived happy together," said Mrs. Anne Marshall, sitting in the parlor of her temporary home at No. 26 Worthington street, Dedham. For the past few days she has been unnerved over the death of her husband, a man who had always been kind and good to her, and who had brooded over that date, October 24, 1906, when the wife would be deprived of $200 which he had stipulated she should have out of his $1,000 insurance in the Golden Cross.

Mrs. Marshall is sixty-five years of age, and has a pleasant, motherly face, is kind and genial in her manner, and feels keenly the sad ending of her beloved husband.

"I married him about ten years ago," she continued. "He had two children by his former wife. We lived in Billerica. He was a carpenter by trade. We had a happy home, and everything was going well until he was struck in the eye by a piece of wood.

"This destroyed the vision of that eye. He felt bad over it, because it seemed to him the beginning of more misfortune.

"He then used his good eye to such an extent that it, too, became affected.

"I can hear him saying to me now, 'Oh, Anne, it will not be long before I am blind. Who will take care of you? We haven't any money but this insurance.'

"Then I would comfort him by saying: 'You're in good health, and don't let us talk on the dark side.'

Husband Became Blind.

"Well, finally he became blind. He worried over it, and I did all I could to keep his spirits up, but he knew it meant poverty for the latter end of his life, and it finally became affected. It was very hard for me to talk to him.

"He would sit and look at me, wondering what I would do when the home would be broken up.

"We talked long about this, and we tried to avoid the separation which finally came.

"Life was dreadful to me. He loved me. He did everything in his power to support me. This I saw. But the time came when we, who had been each other's help, had to part and live in different places.

"I remember the morning he was sold good-by, over and over again. I loved to live with his own children and I came here to Dedham to live among friends. Perhaps you don't know why I went to him and to me. We couldn't do otherwise. We couldn't keep apart. We did it because we thought it was best.

"He left Lowell, sent me to Lowell to live because he was afraid I might be a burden to him. You know that family relations under such circumstances are not always pleasant.

Made Over Insurance.

"Well, we kept up this kind of existence for some time. He made over his life insurance to his children, with the condition that if he should die in two years $200 of the money should come to me.

"He thought often of this. It was always upon his mind before the blind, but every month. Three weeks ago I saw and I felt he had a load upon his mind. He acted as if something was troubling him.

"'Annie,' he said, 'I don't want to live another Winter.'

"'Why, are you so, dear?' I said. 'Except for your eyes and hearing you have better health than I have.'

"He talked of dying. He wanted to go. He thought I would be penniless if he should continue to live.

"But I told him not to think about it.

"When I left him I was afraid something might happen.

"All that night after leaving him it was in my mind, and on Saturday the telephone message came to me here that he was gone. You know, all the way to Lowell I kept thinking, did he make way with himself? They said he had died alone, but I could not get out of my mind what he had said.

"Annie, I don't care to live this Winter.'

"Was he thinking of that money and the fatal date? I thought.

"Oh, he was good, kind and loving to me. I wish I could have lived with him when he died. It seems so sad that things should be this way in this world. Why is it so?

"We loved each other.

"Poverty Parted Us.

"Poverty came between, and he went one way and I had to go another. The world is full of trouble. It will not be long before I will follow him. I feel it."

What a sad, unspeakably sad incident is this! Two human souls, who truly loved one another, and would be willing to die for one another, as the husband really did to benefit his beloved wife, had to be separated in their old age.

They had thought this separation over, and were long in thinking about bringing it to completion. When it did come, it unnerved the old man to be separated from his wife. He thought about it as he saw every month. It was quite upsetting to his mind for the time being, and his fervent devotion to his wife drove him to do the act that would place some comfort in her hands when the $200 were given her.

He brooded over this. He had appar-ently no other way to indicate his love. Poverty held him in its grasp.

Isn't it patiently?

Will not some one raise the declining years of his widow happy?

That was his dying aspiration.

MRS. SAMUEL A. MARSHALL

WIDOW OF MAN WHO DIED TO HELP HER LIVE

HUNT CRAZED WOMAN IN WOODS AND LAKES

MIDDLEBORO, Oct. 25.—Fearing that Mrs. Emma Wortman, the woman who has now been missing from her home nearly two days, has carried out plans to end her life which she formed in her grief over her husband's death, over a hundred searchers are today exploring the several ponds in the vicinity of Fall Brook, as well as the woods.

Chief Samuel Lovell of the Police Department and Chief William Kingman of the Fire Department, who are leading the searching parties, are both inclined to the opinion that Mrs. Wortman has ended her life, and that her body will be found either in the woods or the ponds. Another theory is that she has perished from hunger and exposure in the woods.

If the woman or her body is not found to-day the next move will be to drag the ponds, in the belief that she has drowned herself. Had Mrs. Wortman intended suicide, and there is every evidence that she did from conversation she had with neighbors, drowning would afford her the best opportunity.

When she left the house she had no weapon and it is not believed that there was any poison concealed in the home. All she had was money, between $50 and $60. It is this sum that she feared burglars were going to get on the night when she disappeared.

Searchers yesterday covered the woods for miles around and beat through the dense growth in the swamps, but not a trace of the woman could be found.

The day she went away Mrs. Wortman, in talking to Edward H. Crowell, the local blacksmith, told him that if anything should happen to her or that if she should suddenly disappear, not to blame Alden Wortman, her seventeen-year-old son.

Alden Wortman, the son, is frantic over the prospects that his mother may be dead. He has been with the searchers all the time. He says that illness and his father's death have so worked upon his mother's nerves that of late she has not been quite right in her mind. Regarding her disappearance he says:

"Monday evening she awoke," says the boy, "thinking that robbers were entering the house, and asked me to take her away. To satisfy her I dressed and went out in the street with her, and after a few minutes I coaxed her back into the house.

"At 3 o'clock she became frightened again, and before I could get to her had jumped out of the window. I went right out in the yard and called, but could not see or hear her.

"Thinking that she would be right back I did not say anything to the neighbors, but went to work as usual, returning at noon to find that the whole neighborhood had been looking for my mother."

Coppersmiths' Union.

Resolutions condemning Eben S. Draper and endorsing Hon. Owen Brown for Lieutenant-Governor, were adopted, without a dissenting vote, by Coppersmiths' Union No. 92 at a meeting held last night at 174 Portland street. The resolutions, which were offered by Henry A. Jennings, are as follows:

"Resolved, That we, the members of Coppersmiths' Union No. 92, Amalgamated Sheet Metal Workers' International Alliance, in meeting assembled, do publicly indorse E. Gerry Brown for the office of Lieutenant-Governor, and he it further

"Resolved, That we do all in our power to promote his candidacy."

Lowell Street Railway Men.

Division No. 280, Amalgamated Association of Street Railway Employes of North America, of Lowell, at a regular meeting, indorsed the action of the State Branch, A. F. of L. convention, recently held in Lawrence, condemning Eben D. Draper for Lieutenant-Governor. Senator Herbert H. Hilton and all other opponents of organized labor for official positions. The unions also went on record as being opposed to Frank K. Foster serving on the legislative committee of the next session of the American Federation of Labor, "as lodging that body in Boston will entail convention at Lawrence, we do not think he has the interests of organized labor at heart."

Salem Central Labor Union.

The Salem Central Labor Union at a regular meeting indorsed the action of the State Branch, A. F. of L. at its recent convention at Lawrence, condemning Draper and candidates, and reindorsed the resolutions adopted by the convention, and condemning Eben S. Draper and those seamen who voted against or dodged the meeting Bill.

DESERTION BY WIFE DEFINED

Judge White, in the Divorce Court today, ruled that a wife deserted her husband not when she actually leaves the home of her husband, but from the moment of her refusal to again share his home and his bed.

In Massachusetts it is possible to get a divorce three years after desertion Thomas McCabe, libelling his wife Ida Ette, began his suit three years and six days after she went away.

Judge White, making the ruling referred to, expressed the opinion that there had been unseemly haste. He dismissed the libel.

MRS. SAGE GAVE HELP $11,000

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Mrs. Russell Sage yesterday made gifts amounting to $11,000 to servants of the Sage household out of the fortune of almost $100,000,000 left her by her late husband, who did not make them any bequests.

Charles Ross, the coachman, received a present of $2,000. William Ross, his son, received a like sum. Three women attaches of the household each receive $2,000, and the caretaker of the Sage town house on Fifth avenue got $1,000.

Mrs. Sage is building a $4,000 cottage for Charles Ross near the stables at Cedarhurst.

Charcoal Kills Bad Breath

Bad Odor of Indigestion, Smoking, Drinking or Eating Can Be Instantly Stopped.

Sample Package Mailed Free.

Other people notice your bad breath where you would not notice it at all. It is nauseating to other people to stand before them and while you are talking, give them a whiff or two of your bad breath. It usually comes from food fermenting on your stomach. Sometimes you have it in the morning—that is foul pasty, bilious, bad breath. You can stop that at once by swallowing one or two Stuart Charcoal Lozenges, the most powerful gas and odor absorbers ever prepared.

Sometimes your meals will reveal themselves in your breath to those who talk with you. "You've had onions," or "You've been eating cabbage," and all of a sudden you belch in the face of your friend. Charcoal is a wonderful absorber of odors, as everyone knows. That is why Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges are so quick to stop all gases and odors of odorous foods or gas from indigestion.

Don't use breath perfumes. They never conceal the odor, and never absorb the gas that causes the odor. Besides, the very fact of using them reveals the reason for their use. Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges in the first place stop for good all sour breath and belching of gas, and make your breath pure, fresh and sweet, just after you've eaten. Then one will turn his face away from you when you breathe or talk; your breath will be pure and fresh, and besides your food will taste so much better to you at your next meal. Just try it.

Charcoal does other wonderful things, too. It carries away from your stomach and intestines all the impurities there massed together and which causes the bad breath. Charcoal is a purifier as well as an absorber.

Charcoal is now by far the best, most easy and mild laxative known. A whole boxful will do no harm; in fact, the more you take the better. Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges are made of pure willow charcoal and mixed with just a faint flavor of honey to make them palatable for you, but not too sweet. You just chew them like candy. They are absolutely harmless.

Get a new, pure, sweet breath, freshen your stomach for your next meal, and keep the intestines in good working order. These two things are the secret of good health and long life. You can get all the charcoal necessary to do these wonderful and helpful things by getting Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges. We want you to test these little wonder workers yourself before you buy them. So send us your full name and address for a free sample of Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges. Try after you have tried the sample, and been convinced, go to your druggist and get a 25c box of them. You'll feel better all over, more comfortable, and "cleaner" inside.

Send us your name and address today and we will at once send you by mail a sample package, free. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 60 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

"Kissed Her as He Talked of Marriage," Says Mother in Daughter's $10,000 Suit

GRACE COBURN, SUING MOTORMAN IN $10,000

Girl of 19 Tells Court of Love Making Motorman and His Promises.

The $10,000 breach of promise suit entered by Miss Grace Coburn, of Millford, against Charles E. Marble, a motorman of the Milford, Attleboro & Woonsocket trolley line, continues to-day in the Superior Court of Norfolk county at Dedham. The defendant remains in a highly nervous condition, as the result of a collapse while testifying in his own behalf yesterday.

Miss Coburn admits that from time to time she has received money from Marble and that he has given her many gifts. She alleges that after a courtship extending over two years the two entered into a contract to marry. Marble denies her claim in toto.

After he had undergone a rigid examination lasting forty-five minutes at yesterday's hearing, Marble was seen to suddenly turn pale. He swayed for a moment in the witness chair, and then exclaimed: "I am sick." Before any of the court officers or lawyers could reach him he had fainted. When revived he was excused from further testimony until to-day.

In telling her own story to the jury, Miss Coburn, a slender, brown-eyed girl of eighteen, admitted having received money from Marble in amounts varying from 50 cents to $5. She told her story without hesitation, saying in part as follows:

Gave Her Money.

"I went out driving once with my mother, Mr. Marble and Mrs. Proctor Fiske. The carriage did not come to the door for us and did not return to the house after the ride was over. My mother remarked when we got into the carriage that the two folks would ride in the front seat while us young folks would occupy the back seat.

"I went riding with Mr. Marble at different times during our engagement, but never attended a dance with him. I knew Mr. Marble as well as if he were a member of my own family, but I never asked him for aid.

"The first time I ever called at his house was when I attended his father's funeral. I went often after that, but none of his family ever visited my home. Mr. Marble gave me money or the equivalent a number of times in sums varying from 50 cents to $5.

"My parents did not always know that Mr. Marble gave me money, and they did not know that he gave me clothing.

"I am eighteen years and ten months of age, and am dependent on my parents for support when Mr. Marble did not help me.

"Edgar E. Coburn, the girl's father, was the next witness. He said:

"I have lived in Bellingham most of my life up to seven years ago, when I moved to Milford. I have known Mr. Marble and his family since he was a boy. I went to see Mr. Marble about my daughter, and the following evening he called at my home to see my daughter, his wife and myself. I told him that he ought to take care of my child and support her through life. He said that he would, but that he could not marry at present then.

"Said He Would Marry Her."

"He said that he would marry her. He had not done a marriage engagement with my daughter. I have seen him kiss my daughter several times, and she used to sit on his knee before they were engaged. I did not know that Mr. Marble bought clothing for my daughter. I bought very little clothing for her after she was engaged to Mr. Marble. I did not know of the trip to Boston taken by my daughter and Mr. Marble and did not know the purpose of any trip.

"Mrs. Grace R. Coburn, mother of the girl, said:

"My daughter was ill after her return from her Boston trip with Mr. Marble. She was in bed for three days. I first knew on May, 1902, that Mr. Marble was calling to see my daughter.

"I overheard our carriage ride Mr. Marble kissed my daughter several times and talked continually of marrying her. He changed his seat so that he could be with her in the back seat. He promised her an engagement ring shortly after."

HARRIMAN-FISH WAR IN ILLINOIS CENTRAL ENDED

Report That New President Friendly to Both Interests Will Be Chosen.

OFFER PLACE TO GRAMMAR

By Boston American Leased Wire.

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—It is said on high authority that for a consideration of $10,000,000 it is understood that the control of the railroad will pass to an American who has never been identified with the speculative interests in Wall street. Stuyvesant Fish has agreed to retire as president of the Illinois Central in favor of a successor to be selected by stockholders representing equally himself and Harriman.

This is the information gleaned to-day from men whose standing has never been questioned. It is said that at a meeting in New York on Monday afternoon the last chapter in the bitter fight waged for control of the Illinois Central between Mr. Fish and Mr. Harriman was completed, and by a vote of all concerned it was decided to offer the presidency to Captain George J. Grammer, vice-president of the Illinois Central, at a salary of $100,000 annually for a two years' contract.

It is further said that the action taken at the New York meeting was ratified today at a meeting of stockholders friendly to the Fish administration held in the Pullman building here.

One of Harriman's colleagues, who is reported as a prominent Chicago banker, when asked if the report of capital aggregating $27,000,000 as advances a continuance of the policy promulgated by Mr. Fish, laughingly

AUTO ROBBERS GET $1000 MORE IN BERKSHIRES

Old Place Once Owned by Dr. O. W. Holmes Looted of $1,000 in Jewelry.

FAMILY WAS AT DINNER

Special to the Boston American.

PITTSFIELD, Mass., Oct. 25.—The fourth in the alarming series of burglaries of the homes of the rich cobnuts by thieves who use a powerful and swift automobile in their raids, occurred last night, when Holmesdale, the beautiful old place owned by Oliver Wendell Holmes, and now belonging to Mr. and Mrs. William Pollock of New York City, was entered. Jewelry and trinkets to the value of $1,000 were stolen.

The recent scares, including the robbery of Windyside, the home of Dr. Richard C. Greenleaf, at Lenox, last Sunday, had caused a number of women who own valuable collections of jewels to ship them to New York and put them in safety deposit vaults. Mrs. Pollock, whose collection is famous, took this precaution several days ago, and the household was well pleased that the booty of the robbers had been so small.

After dinner last evening Mr. Pollock went up stairs to her apartments and found them in the greatest disorder, drawers having been opened and the contents dumped out on the floor. It was evident that the thieves had been frightened away before they had finished their work.

An automobile with the curtains down, which had been seen on the Lenox road, suddenly disappeared about the time of the burglary.

UTES DECLARE WAR; READY TO DIE FIGTHING

Defy U. S. Troops and Refuse to Return to Their Reservation.

PEACE COUNCIL USELESS

GILLETTE, Wyo., Oct. 25.—The rampant Ute Indians, who are camped forty miles north of this place, to-day declared their intentions of fighting if interfered with, expressing willingness to die in battle.

Three hundred braves, well armed and with a large supply of ammunition, held a council yesterday with Captain Johnson of the U. S. Cavalry.

The Indians said they would welcome war, and would not return to the barren reservation which had been allotted to them in Utah.

Captain Johnson has asked for more troops.

BOSTON LEAGUE RALLY WILL BE BIGGEST EVER

Tremont Temple Saturday Night To Be Storm Centre of Moran and Brown Enthusiasm.

ALL LEADERS WILL SPEAK

A rally that in attendance and enthusiasm will excel any political meeting ever held in Boston will be that of the Independence League at Tremont Temple Saturday evening.

The demand for tickets at the State headquarters of the League has indicated a tremendous desire on the part of the public to hear the issues of the campaign stated by the principal orators.

"I have been a Republican all my life," said a man from Hyde Park last evening, "but John B. Moran and E. Gerry Brown represent the principles in which I believe, and I am going to vote for them. The other three men for whom you have just given me tickets are every one of them Republicans, and they are going to vote the same way."

Hundreds of women have applied for and received tickets, and it is a certainty that the first balcony, which has been reserved for ladies and their escorts, will be as well filled as the main floor of the house.

John B. Moran, E. Gerry Brown and George Fred Williams will all speak at the rally, and Mr. Moran will make no engagement for Friday evening, in order to prepare for the Saturday night meeting, and may be expected to answer the attacks of Lodge, Guild and the other Republican spellbinders and add to the telling arguments which he has already made as to why he and his associates upon the ticket should be elected.

Get to Temple Early.

Mr. Brown will tell the workingmen, who will compose a large part of the audience, added facts regarding the conditions at Hopedale, where Eben S. Draper, his political opponent, keeps wages down and dividends up by preventing his workingmen from organizing and enforcing an industrial system little better than serfdom.

Mr. Williams, well known from Cape Cod to the Berkshires as one of the most able of Massachusetts orators, will deliver one of his brilliant addresses along a line hitherto untouched by him since the campaign began.

At the League headquarters those who applied in one continuous stream for tickets all day yesterday were urged to get to Tremont Temple as early as possible Saturday evening. From 7 o'clock, when the doors open, until 8, when the speaking begins, there will be a continuous concert of popular music by the Fore River Cadet Band, well known as one of the best organizations in New England.

At 7:45 o'clock the doors will be open to the public generally, and ticket holders not then in their seats will be obliged to take their chance with the remainder of the public in securing places to hear the flow of oratory.

RALLIES AT HUDSON AND MAYNARD TO-MORROW NIGHT

To-morrow night the Independence league of Massachusetts will hold rallies at Hudson and Maynard. Torrent Wood will be in the interest of the State ticket headlined by the League and indorsed by the Democratic party.

They will also be for the purpose of furthering the candidacy of John J. Mitchell of Marlboro, for senator, Cornelius J. Lynch of Maynard, for representative.

Rallies will be held in the town halls of each place. The principal speakers will be Junius T. Asercach and the Hon. Thomas H. Mayo of Hudson. Mr. Asercach will open the rally at Maynard and then proceed to Hudson, where Mayor Mayo will introduce Ex-Senator Bates will be the first speaker at Hudson and return to Maynard for another speech.

Candidate Mitchell will also speak at both rallies and Mr. Lynch will preside at Maynard. The rallies have been extensively advertised and because of the fact that no meetings are to be held under the auspices of the Democratic party in those places the regular Democratic organizations are cordially co-operating with the Independence League.

C. L. U. PLEDGES AID TO MORAN AND GERRY BROWN

WORCESTER, Oct. 25.—The executive committee of the Worcester Central Labor Union last night indorsed the resolutions adopted by the State Branch of the American Federation of Labor at the Lawrence convention indorsing the candidacy of E. Gerry Brown for Lieutenant-Governor. Organized labor interests of the city will conduct an active campaign for the election of Mr. Brown and the head of the ticket, John B. Moran, for Governor.

At a meeting of the executive board held last night the delegates to the Lawrence convention made their report, which was accepted, and the full report received the unanimous indorsement of the board.

At the conclusion of the reading of the report it was voted unanimously to endorse the committee's report, and especially that part which treats with Lieutenant-Governor Draper's stand toward labor men.

At this meeting John F. Casey was chairman of the meeting, and forty delegates representing the same number of locals in the local union organization. These delegates carried with them the feelings of their fellow-members, and the action of the delegates on the Draper matter is indorsed by almost every union man in the city.

At the same meeting it was decided unanimously to do everything possible to insure the election of E. Gerry Brown and his colleague, John B. Moran, for the first two places on the Democratic slate of the State election. It is against the bylaws of the union body, however, to lend any local or number of locals indorse any one political candidate or party. For this reason no official indorsement could not be made at last night's meeting, but it was clearly understood that the delegates were united one and all for the success of Brown and Moran for the highest offices in the State. There are close on to 5,000 union men in this city and they are strongly in favor of seeing these two men elected.

100 Friday Bargain Specials

Friday Bargains! No New England store ever conducted the Friday bargain businss on such a scale. No other store can hope to equal its bargains. Consider the superior facilities that operate to your advantage; think of the masterful purchasing force that four of the world's largest stores possess; ponder on the influence this power exerts in the world's markets. That this supremacy is pretty generally understood is manifested in the daily increase in business—in the rapidly growing conviction that this is New England's greatest store. And here's a collection of Friday bargains that amply sustains our argument.

LYNN MORAN OVATION PUTS G. O. P. IN GLOOM

AMAZING DEMONSTRATION MOST SIGNIFICANT OF CAMPAIGN TO DATE.

All day long politicians in Boston and roundabout have discussed nothing but the tremendous, amazing and unprecedented turnout of Lynn voters last night in honor of John B. Moran. When Republicans and Democrats alike read in all the newspapers that 7,000 people had tried to get into an opera house that seats 1,600, they all admitted that "the people are with Moran."

Gloom settled on the Kimball building headquarters of the Republican State Committee with the arrival of the morning newspapers. Fear and confidence arrived in Democratic and Independence Leagues.

Many Native Bostonians went out to Lynn last night to hear the people's candidate. Some of them managed to get into the opera house. Mr. Moran had the same theme with him from the very jump," said one of these to-day.

Everybody seems agreed that the Lynn reception and demonstration were the most significant of the campaign up to this date. Every Democratic candidate, Lieutenant-Governor Eben S. Draper, started with the head of the ticket in the houses of the night.

Mr. Moran has come out flat footed on the important popular issues of the year. He plainly put things squarely up to Governor Curtis Guild, Jr. And all the way along his audience of 2,500, 500 of them standing, were with him heart and soul.

There was an overflow meeting in the

FIGHT IS FOR RIGHTS OF PEOPLE---BROWN

E. Gerry Brown was the first speaker for the evening at Lynn last night. Mr. Brown said in part:

"I want to say, Eben S. Draper, that you took from the columns of the Boston Transcript a base lie. You fattened this lie, and I call on you to put your pride aside and be a gentleman. I call on you to tell the public why you fattened this lie. I would also again ask you to tell how long a man must expiate to get the stain of being a Republican off him. (Applause.)

Second Revolutionary Fight.

"This is a second Revolutionary fight the American people have before them. In 1776 they fought the tax on tea, which they honorably won. The national foundation of this country is the national rights of man, the rights of man that have, but shouldn't have, been taken away from him. (Applause.)

"The contest is one of the man on one side and the dollar on the other, of commercialism on one side, humanity on the other. (Prolonged applause.)

"We are going to return to the spirit of 1776, we are going to take the government out of the hands of special benefactors and put it back in the hands of the people. (Applause.)

"Lodge says that we are not fair, that we are throwing mud. It is better for us to let the people judge for themselves if we are fair or whether we are throwing mud. Will the people call it throwing mud because we continually ask Governor Guild, Eben S. Draper and Senator Lodge to answer the questions which in this campaign most directly affect the interests of the public? (Applause.)

"He said last evening that we intended to own the railroads for $7,000,000 or $14,000,000. I would like to know if he remembers that if they did have the railroads with the $14,000,000 that the railroads would be different than they are now and that they would have the $14,000,000 in cash, not watered stocks, which the public has to pay for. (Applause.)

"The struggle which we are now making is not alone capital against labor, but there is another factor, watered stock.

"We have got one great big fight on our hands, to determine whether the people own the government or whether the railroads, the telegraph and telephone companies or other monopolies are to continue to own it. (Applause.)

"We are the people. The Cossacks are the people who have over-capitalized their stock and are robbing the people." (Applause.)

"Eben S. Draper has written my life as I have gone about. I can give you my life as I see it in the past fifteen years that I have gone out among the laboring people.

"Why, up in Hopedale-Hopedale, you have a corporation with $2,000,000 common and $4,000,000 preferred stock, which in five years, on an enormous capital, paid twenty per cent. dividends, and is now paying three per cent quarterly dividends. Eben S. Draper says that I am lying about these figures. Well, I am not. I take them from his confidential bankers, who were sending out notice that, now Eben S. Draper could make $2,000,000 or $3,000,000 quickly to place it in your pocket to divide among the Drapers.

2,000 or 3,000 Workingmen.

"On the other side you have 2,000 or 3,000 workingmen there. I have said that you pay them wages of $7.50 a week, up to $11 and $12 a week. I say that a foreman gets no more than $15. Eben S. Draper, I continue to ask you what is your conception, as a candidate for Lieutenant-Governor of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, of good wages? (Applause.)

"What kind of a family does $7.50 a week bring up, a family of Cossacks or a family of Americans. (Prolonged applause.)

Mr. Brown then took up the question of trade unionism. Following this subject he said:

"I know the matter rests in the hands of the people, but I see no way but for the people to study the movement and return this country to true Americanism.

Why, just this very day the Boston Herald says that Lodge is afraid that if we take over the railroads that the railroads will own the government? I would ask Lodge: Who owns the government now? Who gives orders to the Senators? I ask you and would like an answer, Lodge, if you are gentleman enough to answer me, what about the rate bill? (Applause.)

"Who Owns the Government?"

"Senator Lodge, if you say that the postoffice does not pay the government now, I say that the railroads are to blame. They charge too much for transportation. They charge as much as a car is worth. Now Lodge, who owns the government? (Applause.)

"Let us resolve here to-night that we will make a test and that we will vote on merit instead of for wealth. It's foolish to pray on one day and on the other six days chase the dollar. If you chase it as it honestly, think of your neighbor, think of your rights, think that you are an equal member of a great government.

"You men who are against us because we are not with the machine, remember you men with the check book will own his office and own after he is elected. You have had your experiences from these kind of men. Do you want to continue to have them follow you? You lead them? (Applause.)

"They are fighting us with expensive advertising. You know, great Scott, how that all this expensive advertising was done because we are poor people. I am getting it in the neck from every paper except the BOSTON AMERICAN, a paper which they can't buy. (Deafening applause.) There isn't enough money in the country for those men to buy the men on this paper, and they know it. They also know that this paper will give the public the news, no matter where it strikes or whom it strikes."

SCHOFIELD AND BERLE TO TALK AT SALEM FRIDAY

Senator George A. Schofield, of Ipswich, Democratic candidate for Congress in the Sixth District against the present incumbent, Congressman A. P. Gardner, will hold a rally Friday night in Salem, and he will show up his opponent's record as a State Senator and a Congressman.

There will be several other speakers, including the Rev. A. A. Berle.

DRAPER OWNS UP THAT BROWN IS A WORTHY GENTLEMAN

Lieutenant-Governor Draper journeyed to Winthrop last night and talked to about 50 voters in the Town Hall. There was a torchlight procession, headed by the Republican town committe and the Winthrop Oak Band.

Mr. Draper, in speaking of his opponent, E. Gerry Brown, said: "There is a man making for second place on the ticket of a Democratic party, and I think he is a very worthy gentleman. I do not care to say anything against his record politically. He has made many statements in a campaign about me that are untrue, however.

"He has accused me of being an enemy of labor. I employ thousands of people in Hopedale and pay as much if not more than union wages, and I am proud of Hopedale. When he says that I am opposed to labor, I will only say that I can be more for labor in Hopedale than he can by standing on street corners."

Success in the Gulf Coast Country

Every Monday and Thursday there will appear in the columns of this paper an example of what has been done in farming in the Gulf Coast Country on the Brownsville Line. 12

Five Acres of Cucumbers Bring $940.

Mr. S. L. Kostoryz, who lives five miles south of Corpus Christi, planted five acres of cucumbers in March this year. About the first of May this gave him a crop of 1037 bushels, from which he realized $940.

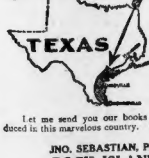
If you would like to have Mr. Kostoryz confirm this statement, write him at Corpus Christi. He can tell you many wonderful facts about the Gulf Coast Country—about the richness of the soil, the excellent supply of water for irrigation, and the mild climate where tender vegetables can be raised almost every month in the year. Two, and sometimes three, crops a year are raised.

Twenty acres there will make as much as fifty acres in many other places. Even inexperienced farmers have no difficulty in making $100 an acre.

Would you like to have a small farm in the Gulf Coast Country where success does not depend on uncertain weather with irregular rainfall?

Now the land is cheap and you can get it on easy terms. Twenty acres will cost you about $500. The cost of clearing it is about $5 an acre. The cost of water for irrigation varies. You may want an artesian well of your own; you may get water from some river; or you may get it from your neighbor. But the cost is not great, and those who have tried it have netted from the first crop a sum which has paid all expenses and left a good surplus.

The Winter Vegetable Garden of America



Take a trip down there and see for yourself—that's the best way. Every first and third Tuesday of each month, we will sell round-trip tickets to any point in the Gulf Coast Country and return, at the following rates:

From Chicago, - - -	$25.00
From St. Louis - - -	20.00
From Kansas City, - -	20.00
From Peoria, - - -	23.00
From St. Paul, - - -	27.50
From Minneapolis, - -	27.50

These tickets will be good 30 days and they will permit you to stop over at any point.

Let me send you our books describing the wonderful crops produced in this marvelous country. Don't delay, write me to-day.

"A STITCH IN TIME SAVES NINE"

BOSTON, Oct. 24, 1906.

Daniel W. Lane, Tailor,
Congressional Candidate
For Advertising Purposes:
Eleventh District,
Boston

Exquisite Sir—In your speech against the Hon. John B. Moran and me made last night in the presence and on the platform of the Hon. Curtis Guild, Jr., Governor pro tem., you appeared in shocking neglige from a rhetorical point of view. You pained those who know you in your habit as you live. From you something fitting was expected because of your occupational regard for good form.

Your taste is known of all men. You have been an ornament to your trade of tailoring and have won a darling reputation as 'the glass of fashion and the mould of form." Your vivid and kaleidoscopic waistcoats, with their sweet-pretty hand-painted buttons, make a front which abashes the "common people" and ravishes "the vested Interests." You should live up to your fashionable proportions in your figures of speech. You have referred with jaunty and nonchalant mendacity to my personality.

You were indiscreet. You do not know me or you would not abuse me. With the Christian-soldier spirit of the pious Guild, I shall return good for evil, even as would that saintly and ascetic man. I propose to take you into my intimate confidence. The tailor should not forsake his goose. Make an appointment with me at your earliest convenience, bring your tape and yardstick with you, and I shall let you build for me a suit of loud cloth.

Your patron, TIMOTHY W. COAKLEY.

COLUMBIANS TO GREET MACK

The Knights of Columbus of Boston and vicinity are planning a big reception to Andrew Mack, the actor, when he makes his appearance at the Boston Theatre Monday night.

Many members of the order and old residents of the North End, where Mr. Mack was born, are taking and active interest in the affair. A portion of the house has been reserved and it is expected that a large number will turn out. It is the intention of the committee to make the affair a big success, as this year Mr. Mack is under his own management. The committee in charge of the reception consists of H. T. Allen, James Moore and Daniel Toomey.

CAMBRIDGE HEARS SYMPHONY TO-NIGHT

Following its usual custom, the Boston Symphony Orchestra will give six concerts this year in Sanders Theatre, Cambridge, the first one of the series being given to-night. The concert will begin at 7:45 o'clock, instead of at eight as formerly. The soloists for the first concert are Miss Lilla Ormond, contralto; Miss Lillia Snelling, contralto; Miss Olga Radecki, pianist; Professor Willy Hess, violinist.

EXPERT TALK ON 'OPPORTUNITY'

"Opportunities That Are Always Near" was the title of an address delivered by Prof. C. Clark of the Jordan Marsh Company before the students of the High School of Commerce yesterday. Mr. Clark said that the first requisites for commercial success was industry, the second self-denial, the third enthusiasm, and honesty, patience, courtesy, perseverance and sobriety in liberal quantities.

"There are other things, besides thinking on the material gain to the person looking for advancement. While a man is considering his own interests he should not forget or ignore those of his employer. He should also remember the interests of the customer, and nothing will be more appreciated by that latter than prompt and courteous attention. The avoidance of unnecessary errors is nothing more than showing the ordinary ability in common sense, intelligence and leather. To be well dressed, not overdressed or showy, is also an essential to commercial success, while frankness and sociability are as much to any other two things to impress the customer with the importance of the position being submitted by the salesman."

NURSE-BRIDE QUITS NEWPORT

NEWPORT, R. I., Oct. 25.—Newport today has come to the conclusion that Miss Margaret Stewart, trained nurse, has definitely parted from Edward H. Bulkley, society and club man. The gossips have it that Miss Stewart has gone to her home in St. John, N. B., never to return to Newport, and that all is off between her and Mr. Bulkley, whom she recently assured back to health.

On the day set for the wedding, Oct. 6, Mr. Bulkley suffered a relapse, and the ceremony was postponed. Then the bride-elect departed, and the general supposition is that there has been a lovers' quarrel.

UNEEDA PALACE AN EXHIBIT OF RARE BEAUTY

Stately Greek Temple of National Biscuit Company One of Finest Food Fair Features.

EVERYONE MADE WELCOME

Unique among the many unusually attractive features at the Boston Food Fair is Uneeda Palace, the striking and beautiful exhibit of the National Biscuit Company. This gorgeous edifice, which has been accurately modelled after the architectural scheme of the Greek Parthenon at Athens, is in reality a palace of eats, for, so far as possible, the temple is constructed of dummy cartoons showing the names of the well-known brands of crackers and cakes which are manufactured by the National Biscuit Company.

Striking the eye as from its prominent position occupying the entire stage in Grand Hall the exhibit stands forth above everything else, its rare beauty and elegance compels continued admiration of the gaze of the thousands of spectators who daily visit the great Food Fair in the Mechanics building.

Greek Temple in Design.

Thousands of dollars have been expended by the promoters of this wonderful special exhibit in making it an unrivalled feature among the hundreds of attractions vieing for attention. The main design of the exhibit is that of an ancient Greek temple of Doric type, and the effect is heightened by the decorations which are all conformed to classic style and by groups of statuary representing mythological subjects.

To give one an idea of the magnitude of the main edifice of this matchless exhibit, it need only be told that over 12,000 lin-er-feet cartoons have been used in the construction of the roof alone, while nearly as many more are required for the development of the pillars and pilasters.

Brilliant Electric Display.

The electric display adds an indescribable charm to the stately temple and the novel exhibit. Over 1,200 bulbs are used in illuminating the stage and the beautiful pictures on the walls and ceiling. Attractive floral displays, renewed daily, are a feature of the display.

Daily receptions are being held from 2:30 to 5 p. m and from 7:30 to 10. The choicest products of the National Biscuit Company are distributed at these receptions with chocolate which is served by two handsome young women, who are attired in Greek costumes. Pages in stog outfits of royal purple replenish the good things and a corps of affiable young men in evening dress explain the merits of the goods.

NO TRICKS IN THESE FIGHTS

Tad Says Corbett and McGovern Are Great Cards for Any Club.

BY TAD.

The greatest card in the country to-day is Terry McGovern vs. Young Corbett

You may hear the old-timers talk of great finish battles, great sixty-five-round battles and vicious fifteen-round mills, but there never was a fight packed full of so many exciting moments as that six-round thriller between Corbett and McGovern at Philadelphia.

There was no stalling, no hugging, no running away, and no foul tactics employed by either of the great little fighters.

Both were there to prove things.

Terry was there to prove that Corbett beat him more by luck than anything else. Corbett was there to show Terry that the man with the waiting is the man you always figure on, and that he was the man.

They went at one another like two engines. It was a head-on collision that made the Brighton Beach affair look like a parlor game. Corbett belted McGovern fearfully, but Terry neither lost his head nor his heart. Corbett's punches landed squarely enough, but Terry weathered it looked like a knockout might come any moment.

No one knew just when it would come. Every eye in the house was on the little fellows every second of the go. We were afraid to miss it.

Shaking and jumping in our chairs, we watched them breathlessly. One staggered, then the other. We were up and down, hitting the man next to us as he hitting us. The excitement was intense. There never was a quiet moment.

When that battle was over the ringside spectators and those upstairs were as far gone as the fighters themselves.

No two little men in the world can put up the battle Corbett and McGovern do. For a twenty-round battle they would be the greatest card before the public. They are both fighters and they FIGHT.

There is no trickery in winding their fights. It's the waiting that they go by those two, and they try to land it every second of the go.

And now they're matched again. Glad of it. It will be a great match for any club. What's the matter with the Chelsea crew?

YALE CLASS GAMES HELD

NEW HAVEN, Ct., Oct. 25.—Yale's annual fall track meet was held at Yale Field yesterday afternoon. The track was heavy and fast time was impossible. Class numerals were awarded. The 100-yard dash brought out the best time, and was won by L. B. Stevens of the law school in 10 2-5 seconds. The meet was to have been held last Saturday, but was postponed on account of rain.

Jim Neil, Who Saw Gans Fight, SAYS BLOW WAS FOUL

Ever since the fight pictures of the recent Gans-Nelson battle were produced, there has been a question raised in the cities in which the films have been shown as to whether or not a foul blow was struck, and as to Referee Siler being in a position to see it.

Last night at the Howard Theatre, where the pictures have already been playing two weeks to crowded houses, a representative of the BOSTON AMERICAN was the guest of the management. For the occasion a special hand and lense, and a twenty-four sheet screen were used. The figures were exactly life size, and every movement made by the men was plainly discernible.

The AMERICAN reporter sat behind the screen, where the pictures could be seen to better advantage than in front. When the forty-second round arrived, which was the final one of the contest, Jim Neil father of Frankie Neil, looks after both Tey Richard's and Joe Gans's interests in the pictures, gave warning when the fatal blow was about to be delivered.

After circling around the ring two or three times, Nelson and Gans were seen to come together, near Gans's corner. The Dane first gave the colored man a hook in the stomach, and then followed it up with a straight arm punch below the belt. Joe is then seen to roll over, while Referee Siler declares his victor on a foul. Siler was certainly in position to see the punch.

At close range, details are brought out that escape the audience in the front of the house. For instance. It is hardly plain that Nelson's face is covered with blood after the second round, and also Gans's exceedingly clever covering up of his stomach, which Nelson was laying for, because of his knowledge that the former was weak from training down to less than 135 pounds.

In the twentieth round, Gans had Nelson on the run, and the crowd is seen standing, shouting wildly for the knockout punch, which never came, however.

So plain was the climax punch last night that when the ring referee rendered by the popular announcer, Jack Gleason, as to whether or not a foul blow was struck, a majority of the audience yelled "Yes!" Of course, there were many who shouted, "No," who did so out of pretext.

Jim Neil, who was at the fight, said that Gans had easily the best of the fight, and that in the last few rounds Nelson was so groggy that it was only a question of time when he would be put in cold storage. Jim Neil also declared Referee Siler put over the blow that put Gans down and out.

Neil says that he can't understand why Billy Nolan, manager of the Dane, is going all over the country making charges of foolishness. He says Nolan knows that Gans had his boy beaten, and that the latter fouled, and that his very being fell should not be tolerated by the sporting public.

By the word of Neil and other authorities who saw the scrap, and the pictures as illustrated to the BOSTON AMERICAN representative last night, Gans clearly won from Nelson, and the latter fouled, as the majority of those who attend the Howard Theatre to the reminding days of the engagement will undoubtedly testify.

THOMAS BEATS FITZ

Special to the Boston American.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 25.—Dick Fitzpatrick barricaded himself so effectively behind his gloves, forearms and elbows that no blow reached before Joe Thomas could find an opening for a knockout punch.

Fitzpatrick made money for his friends and presumably for himself by remaining on his feet until the fifteenth round was passed. The betting that Thomas would win within fifteen rounds was at even money, while the wagering on general results was at 10 to 8, with Thomas on the long end. The Fitzpatrick crowd, knowing of Dick's staying qualities, filled the round betting proposition bet for bet than the straightout investment, and pocketed a lot of coin over Thomas's failure to down the Chicagoan within the allotted time.

When the fifteenth round began Fitzpatrick did not cover up as carefully as he did in the preceding rounds.

Perhaps he thought after landing the fifteen round limit that it would not pay to take a chance and mix it more freely with Thomas. At any rate, Thomas took advantage of them. First Fitzpatrick went to the floor from a jolt delivered on the chin. When he arose a right hand punch on the jaw sent him down again, and before he could be counted out effectually his seconds tossed up the sponge in token of knowledgment of defeat.

Fitzpatrick had an exceedingly well appearance when he took the stands for the opening round. He began by covering up his gloves as his cat protectors and his arms and body guards from all of Thomas's blows. All Thomas could do was to land in little jabs with the left.

Fitzpatrick made one overhand swing with the right and drew blood from Thomas's nose, but was the only punch which Fitzpatrick administered the latter during the entire fight. Thomas was about three times as heavy as his opponent, and he used his weight to advantage by pushing the lighter man around the ring and by forcing him to the ropes. In the efforts of the former to get away from the latter he fell to the floor. Thomas, unwilling to fight against the rules, refused to take advantage of the situation, and let Fitzpatrick get up without striking him. In the efforts of the latter to get away from Thomas

There Are Many Ways of Catching a Trout

The Trusts Think That There Are Many Ways OF CATCHING YOU

Skilful fishermen, trying to get the trout out of the water, use different kinds of flies. On a clear, sunshiny day one fly of a certain color is good.

On a dull, rainy or threatening day another sort of a fly is required.

The skilful fisherman boasts that no matter WHAT mood the trout or weather may be in, HE CAN CATCH FISH IF YOU GIVE HIM THE RIGHT KIND OF A FLY.

The trusts, readers, are fishing for YOUR VOTES. They have been fishing for them and getting a good many of them for a long time. They have been unusually lucky in their fishing, as they have owned both sets of flies—DEMOCRATIC AND REPUBLICAN—on both sides of the stream.

This time, however, THEY ARE FISHING ON ONE SIDE OF THE STREAM ONLY. The other side has been taken away from them.

But the trusts believe that, even in this stormy weather for trusts, they will succeed in GETTING YOU.

They think that they have got in Mr. Guild the right kind of a fly, and the trust gentlemen are quite hopeful about the fishing this year, in spite of various gloomy circumstances.

They are dangling their Guild fly above the water very temptingly, and asking you to jump at it.

ARE YOU GOING TO JUMP?

They hope that you are, and that your intelligence is not much above that of the ordinary little speckled trout. It is for you to give them their answer.

Whatever your decision may be—OF COURSE YOU KNOW THIS:

Every single trust in the United States WANTS you to vote for Mr. Guild. Every single big public service corporation, street cars, gas, etc., EXPLOITING you, WANTS YOU TO VOTE FOR GUILD AND DRAPER.

You are going this Fall to vote as AGAINST the trusts that have been managing your government and robbing you for years. Or you are going to justify the boast of the trust fishermen, and allow yourselves to be hauled out in the good old-fashioned way by the new, nice, smooth Guild trust fly.

Little Editorials from the People

DIGGING THE PIT

Editor BOSTON AMERICAN:

"Who digs a pit for another may fall into it himself." For years the corporations of this State have been digging for the people a pit in the shape of government by commissions. The scheme is to vest the regulation of public service corporations in the State commissions and then for the corporations to select a majority of the commission. To illustrate, the regulation of railway rates is vested in one commission, the Gas and Electric Commission, which has control of the streets of Boston and the glaring of rates for gas and electricity, and this year the Massachusetts Highway Commission was given the right to regulate telephone rates.

This idea works very nicely for the corporations as long as they can be assured of having a "good fellow" for Governor, but the prospect of a real man in the Governor's chair has scared the corporations into a panic.

With John B. Moran Governor of Massachusetts men will be placed on those commissions who look at things from the people's standpoint, and there is likely to be a reduction in telephone, gas, electric light and railroad rates. L. W. K. KIMBALL.

MR. E. Z. MARK AIDS A MYSTERY

1. STRANGER—Now, Mr. Mark, ask no questions. This is a birthday present for you from Mrs. Mark. She gave me instructions that I was to take it to her room, unpack it, and leave it there. She said that under no circumstances were you to enter the room or see the present until she came home to present it to you in person.

2. MR. E. Z.—Oh, isn't that Mary the vixen! Come right this way; I'll show you her room. Certainly, I'll give you my word of honor not to even peep or listen while you are unpacking the present. My wife wants the pleasure of surprising me, and it would be mean of me to deprive her of it.

3. MR. E. Z. (to Mrs. Mark's return)—Ha, ha, ha! Oh, Mary, you mischief! The man was here with the present. He unpacked it and left it in your room. I haven't seen it, upon my honor.

MRS. MARK—The present! My room! Unpacked! Oh, there has been something doing, I know. I must investigate.

4. MRS. MARK—Oh, just as I thought! You brainless brute! You have let a sneak thief into the house! All my diamonds and jewelry gone! Present? I sent no present. See that package? Nothing but a lot of bricks packed in excelsior. This settles it! I'm done with you, E. Z. Mark, DONE!

The Sad Case of a Woman Who Seeks a Divorce "Because Her Husband Loves Her Too Much"

By Dorothy Dix

AN Omaha woman has applied for a divorce on the most novel grounds on record. It is because her husband loves her too much.

Thousands of women have asked the courts to set them free from husbands who did not love them enough, but this is the first woman who was ever so surfeited upon affection that she wanted to be delivered from it.

At first blush her sex will be inclined to condemn the Omaha lady. Heart-hungry wives, with indifferent spouses, middle-aged wives painfully going through physical culture exercises, trying at forty to maintain the dumb as an oyster about the way he feels and never mention the word love waist measure of eighteen in order to retain the love of a husband who is chasing off after stylish-like chorus girls; brow-beaten wives, who never get anything but blows from their husbands, will rise up in a body and declare that she doesn't know a good thing when she sees it, and that such a devoted husband was a pearl cast before a swine.

But the Omaha woman is not without reason and justification. She says that her husband's ability to love is so great that it cuts out his capacity to work, and that all he gives her are passionate vows of affection.

Makes a Man Work

BEFORE they were married he earned a good salary at his trade, but ever since the wedding day has he been able to tear himself away from her long enough to do a lick of work or make a dollar.

Indeed, the thought of being separated from his heart's idol is so painful to him that he has sat for the entire five years of their married life by her fab, telling her how he loved her, how beautiful she was in his eyes, how she was the only woman in the world to him, while she took in washing and supported the family.

This lady is tired of protestations of affection and wants some tangible proofs of devotion handed out. She wants to see more doing in the way of making a living and bear less about deathless devotion. In a word, she is in the same frame of mind as the much-married Solomon when he exclaimed: "Feed me with apples, stay me with flagons, for I am sick of love!"

This view of the subject is one that should commend itself to every sensible person. There is no such mockery in the world as the love that takes itself out in talk. Real love, the kind of love that is all wool and a yard wide, and that is guaranteed to stand the wear and tear of every-day life, is more eloquent and convincing when it expresses itself in acts than it is when it drops into poetry.

Any man who will not work to support the woman he is married to ought in common decency keep silent on the subject of love. It is a sacrilege for him to take the name upon his lips. Real love would make him want to take the burdens off of the tired shoulders and save the worn and weary hands. Real love would make him tender and protecting, anxious to serve and spare her in every way.

Deeds Show Love

SUCH a man—the man that does things—the man who works early and late, that his wife may sit soft at home; the man who, after his own hard day's labor is over, will bring up the scuttle of coal and bucket of water for his wife; the man who never criticises his wife's failures, or makes fun of her weaknesses, may be as feels and never mention the word love to her from the day they are married to the day of his death, yet none the less he is the real, true lover.

His deeds speak for him, and are worth all the sentimental vows of all the good promisers and poor performers rolled into one.

There is no subject under the sun of which the majority of women take a more lop-sided view than this, for it must be acknowledged that most of the feminine sex put words far ahead of acts, and measure a man's devotion by the amount that he talks about it.

Half the wives who go wailing and weeping about, beating upon their breasts and complaining that their husbands no longer love them, are married to men who work eighteen hours a day in order to provide them with imported dresses and pattern hats.

If that isn't proof of unadulterated and slavish affection, what, in heaven's name, is?

Value Protestations

A REAL sign that a husband's love had cooled off would be for him to spend the money that he makes in buying himself fine clothes instead of pretty frocks for his wife, or for him to go off and disport himself at Summer resorts and leave her to bake in a flat.

As long as the tangible signs of devotion expressed by the man in cheerfully providing household expenses continue a wife need not lie awake nights worrying about the state of her husband's feelings.

She may rest assured that he thinks more of her than he does of himself, even if he is a little shy on love speeches.

On the other hand, no faith is to be put in the man who swears that he loves the woman, and yet does the things that break her heart.

He may be ever so eloquent, ever so romantic, ever so fervid in his protestations of love, but his words are as empty as the empty air.

They may be sweet to a woman's ears for a little while, but sooner or later she will know them for the lies and mocking that they are, for love is not talking. It is doing.
